The FAA Production Studios located at the FAA National Resource Center at the Lakeland Linder Regional Airport, Lakeland, FL, is a cooperative effort of the National Aviation Safety Foundation, a non-profit tax exempt foundation, and the Federal Aviation Administration Safety Team (FAASTeam).

Providing continuing education to the aviation community targets what we do best. Through our efforts to reach those in aviation, we have seen a decrease in accident and incident rates. On a daily basis we provide pilots with important aviation safety programming and keep them abreast of critical information.

For more information on our programming and schedules please visit our website at www.faaproductionstudios.com. You will find our entire broadcast schedule and information about all our broadcasts at the "FAA Production Studios Brochures and Print Materials" link.

Programs are made possible through the joint endeavor of The National Aviation Safety Foundation www.nationalaviationsafetyfoundation.org and the Federal Aviation Administration www.faasafety.gov.
